Blockchain Technology course

In July, Professor John Villasenor will be teaching a one day Blockchain Technology course. It is designed to provide anyone an introduction to the technology but will be particularly valuable to business, law, and media industry professionals.

Please share the attached flyer through your newsletters or networks where you expect that there would be relevant interest.

Name: Blockchain 101: Cryptocurrencies, Smart Contracts, and Management of Digital Assets and Rights
Date: Sunday July 22nd
Time: 9am-4pm
Location: UCLA Luskin Conference Center, Grand Ball Room
Cost: $795