

Bruins Beyond Borders

Bruins Beyond Borders is a new mentorship program from International Students Association (ISA) specifically designed for helping incoming international freshmen transition smoothly into UCLA.

International students at UCLA are often underrepresented, and hence we strongly believe that creating a foundation that fosters growth, acceptance and holistic wellbeing for international students is much needed. Our aim is to provide academic, emotional, and social support to mentees, as they are often faced with uncertainty, culture shock and homesickness. We want to allow for an easier transition into UCLA life, showing them what it means to be a Bruin and how to make the most of it!

We have released mentor applications for students who are interested in being a part of this program. This is a good opportunity for students to not only interact with incoming Bruins and help them navigate their way into UCLA, but also form a network with other UCLA students along with gaining extensive exposure to international cultures.

It is minimum time commitment, and flexible in terms of communication and amount of involvement. B3 would also be providing mentors a useful packet of information about UCLA resources and opportunities available to students and also aims to have an up to date and centralized log of events happening across campus for easy access in a single place.

The application is very short, and the larger part of the application is a survey of interests, hobbies, background, etc. which will be used to pair mentors with mentees. The application is open to:

International Students
Students who identify as international
Domestic Students who have studied abroad
