

Cost Engineer

Currie & Brown is one of the world's leading construction consultancy firms dedicated to advising clients in the management and utilization of their physical assets. We have a global team of project and cost management specialists and provide a comprehensive range of construction consultancy services including program and project management, cost estimating, project controls, planning and scheduling services, and contract advisory.

Our track record with clients is demonstrated in continued repeat business which is a testament to our ability to listen to clients, understand their needs and deliver services that transform their businesses.

Exciting opportunity to join Currie & Brown as a Cost Engineer.

A general list of responsibilities we task our Cost Engineers is as follows:

- Develop and maintain budget and track project costs throughout the life of projects
- Change management, estimate impacts of changes and contingency drawdown
- Monthly cost reporting and budget reconciliation
- Develop risk register and track impacts
- Cash flow forecasting and monitoring
- Undertaking payment recommendations and review of contractor / consultant invoices
- Developing WBS and cost breakdowns
- Cost estimating through various design stages using past experience, historical data and parametric ratios
- Supporting client account management
- Communicating details effectively to internal and external stakeholders including presentation
- Establish new and maintain existing project controls tools

Qualities and experience we look for in Cost Engineers:

- Experience working on large complex capital projects not required but a plus
- Extensive knowledge of the Microsoft Suite of products (MS Word, Excel, Project)
- Candidates with the ability to be self-managing and require minimum supervision
- Good time management, communication and interpersonal skills
- Desire to lead, mentor and develop a successful team
- Organized with ability to manage work load
- Bachelors or Master's Degree related technical field preferable

Training & Progression

- We offer a 1-2 year Graduate Developmental Program to graduates. This is an extensive mentorship program to cross train graduates in various services the company provides like cost estimation, cost management, procurement, and scheduling and also to support them in the preparation for certification like PMP or RICS.

- Below are our company values and employer value proposition.

Organization Values

- Clients - we treat clients the way we would want to be treated.
- People - we care for our people through a challenging and supportive working environment.
- Excellence - we strive for excellence.
- Sustainability - we care about the effect we have on the environment.

Employer Value Proposition - Why work for Currie & Brown

- Investment – as a global leader, who works with fortune 500 and blue chip clients, working for the best means, they hire the best.
- Currie & Brown offer a leading compensation & benefits program.
- Collaboration – work for a company that drives success from a collaborative working culture.
- Be part of a culture that celebrates your success, and will support you along the way.
- Success – achieve your goals through a company who prioritizes your training and development. Currie & Brown invest in your career progression.
- Consultants – work for a company who cares about the people they hire. They ensure their staff have a successful career and proactively communicate opportunities, ensuring their staff have options at the end of the projects. We offer an incentive to work in different locations in the US and provide a work life balance to our staff.

At Currie & Brown you will join a dynamic team working on high-visibility projects for Fortune 500 companies. With our global presence, expansive market portfolio, and career advancement potential from within, the opportunities to make your impact are unlimited! If you are interested in working for a company that has a network of offices around the world, offers a mixture of project types, fosters a compassionate culture for employees, and is committed to your personal and professional growth, consider Currie & Brown for the next step on your career path.

For more information, please see www.curriebrown.com