Earth, Planetary, and Space Science Department at UCLA is now accepting applications from graduating students for an Assistant Development Engineer position. The position is to develop magnetometers for space and ground systems, for upcoming NASA missions to the Moon, Mars, Europa, and an asteroid. Apply at hr.mycareer.ucla.edu/applicants/Central?quickFind=72707