The UCLA Samueli School of Engineering continues to partner with Counseling and Psychological Services (CAPS) to offer free, confidential, brief support for students within the School of Engineering. No appointment is necessary and visits are first come, first serve. Speaking to a counselor in a confidential setting can help you to access support, provide perspective, help you to explore resources and options, and discuss how counseling might be helpful. Students with questions or concerns can call the front desk to schedule time in drop-in slots, or to meet with other available staff for immediate needs.
