

Job: Full-Stack Mobile Developer for “Friendzone”

Looking for independent developer who will be an integral part of a close-knit mobile application start up team. No structured hours will be assigned: developer will determine their own schedule based on assigned tasks to be completed within an 8-9 month time frame. Experience in development is recommended in the following categories: proficiency in back end development, proficiency in iOS development, proficiency in Android development, and proficiency in cross-platform development. Compensation is negotiable based on experience. If interested contact Gabriel Ning, CEO at gabriel.ning@mail.mcgill.ca.