

Chinese/English Technical Translator

We are a local Southern California-based business. We make electric guitars, amplifiers, guitar pedals, tuners, and metronomes. Our products are manufactured in China.

We will be conducting weekly Skype meetings with colleagues in China and we need a translator to help us conduct the sessions. The discussions will focus on product development and manufacturing of electronic products.

Translator requirements;

- Electrical Engineering, Mechanical Engineering or related studies student
- Speak Cantonese and Mandarin
- Speak very good English

Meetings will be held weekly on Tuesday evenings (local California time) for about 1-2 hours per session.

Number of months we are conducting meetings is undetermined right now.

The student only needs to be able to join the Skype session from their own computer from work/school/home.

Compensation: $50/hour
