

MS PHD's Cohort

We are in the process of recruiting the 2011-2013 MS PHD'S cohort. The MS PHD's Program//facilitates mentoring and networking activities for minority undergraduate and graduate Earth system science and engineering majors, and provides a supportive environment in which participants develop strategies and professional skills necessary to excel in Earth system science and engineering fields.

We hope you will let students know about this opportunity. More details about the program activities can be found in the program announcement here:
