Meraki – Software Engineer

We are looking to hire recent university graduates as full-time software developers for teams working on distributed back-end systems, device drivers, mobile device management, and mobile & web applications.

Meraki is the ideal place to start your career: we place a special emphasis on learning, allow you to easily switch teams, and have a lot fun together. Depending on your interests, you might work on projects across any number of our teams, owning a feature from start to finish.

In general, we like one or more of:
- A strong foundation in the fundamentals of computer science
- Familiarity with Javascript, CSS, Ruby on Rails skills
- Familiarity with C/C++ and understanding of databases

Bonus points if you've taken classes or had internships with experience in:
- UX design
- Databases / operating systems
- iOS / Android development
- Embedded systems/networking
- Distributed systems
- Running a live web service
- Running your own server

Apply at: https://meraki.cisco.com/jobs