

NSA Cooperative Education Program

UCLA HSSEAS Computer Science, Computer Science and Engineering and Electrical Engineering Majors:

NSA Cooperative Education Program

Don't miss the May 15 deadline. Start your application today.

The National Security Agency (NSA) is looking for freshmen and sophomores majoring in electrical engineering, computer engineering and computer science to join our Cooperative Education Program. As a program participant, you'll gain real-world experience working with some of the most advanced technologies in the world.

NSA's Cooperative Education Program is one of our most exciting student opportunities. In the program, you'll alternate semesters of full-time work at NSA with full-time study. Not to mention you'll earn a salary to help pay for college. Read more

The deadline to apply is May 15, so get started on your application today by visiting:
<http://www.aftercollege.com/op/op.asp?id=7891>