

RESEARCH ASSISTANTS NEEDED TO HELP READ NARRATIVES FOR A RESEARCH STUDY

---

STUDY OF VIOLENT DEATHS—HOMICIDES AND SUICIDES IN RACIAL/ETHNIC MINORITY and LGBTQ INDIVIDUALS

Project Description: We are currently engaged in a study in which we are reading law enforcement narratives about the suicide and homicide of racial/ethnic minorities and LGBT populations. Our goal is to better understand the narratives for risk factors associated with the life of this person. Our purpose is to help make these narratives more useful for learning how to identify factors that could be helpful for program interventions.

Requirements: Must have had suicide prevention training and/or have worked with racial/ethnic minorities or with LGBTQ individuals in the field of mental health or violent deaths. 4-6 hours per week.

Reading these narratives is tough, so we only want volunteers who are trained to work in this area.

If you are interested, please contact
Professor Vickie Mays (mays@ucla.edu)

---

Vickie M. Mays, PhD, MSPH,
Professor of Psychology and Health Policy and Management
Director, UCLA BRITE Center
Website: www.MinorityHealthDisparities.org