

The 2013 National Science Foundation's (NSF) Graduate Research Fellowships Program (GRFP) solicitation has been posted at http://www.nsf.gov/funding/pgm_summ.jsp?pims_id=6201&org=CISE&from=home.

The application deadline for CISE and Engineering is November 13, 2012.

GRFP supports outstanding students to pursue research-based master's and doctoral degrees. Applicants must be US citizens or nationals, or permanent resident aliens of the United States by the application deadline. In addition to the solicitation page, <http://www.nsfgrfp.org/> contains useful information about the program and available resources.

It is important for the CISE community to expand and mentor our pipeline of future researchers and educators. We are asking you to promote the GRFP opportunity to your students and colleagues and to those in advising positions in your department and at your institution.