

The City School, a public charter middle school, needs a volunteer teacher for its STEM (Science, Technology, Engineering Math) major. STEM takes place in the spring semester, which begins the last week in January and ends mid-June. The class is for 6th and 7th graders. It will be held Tuesdays and Thursdays from 2:30-3:30pm. We can offer school credit to any intern who teaches the class.

The City School is a public charter school located in Los Angeles. Our school was founded by visionary educators and brought to life through the hard work of dedicated parents. The City School opened in the fall of 2012 with 6th and 7th grade students and will continue to grow, one grade level per year, until we have a robust 6th-12th grade school. Admission is based on a lottery system and our school is open to all residents of California. Please visit our website to learn more about the school: <http://www.citycharterschool.org>.
