

The Daily Bruin, UCLA's award-winning student paper, is now accepting applications to work in our Online department. The Online team produces interactive web graphics and projects, and manages the Daily Bruin's new Wordpress website, which receives hundreds of hits each day. Applicants to our Online department must be familiar with a C-style programming language. Our Online staffers work with PHP, CSS, HTML and JavaScript.

Applications are due on Monday, Jan. 14 by noon to the front desk of Kerckhoff Hall. Applications can be accessed at <http://recruiting.dailybruin.com/apply/>. Accepted applicants will receive training from a Digital Editor at the Los Angeles Times. If you have questions, contact Media Adviser Amy Emmert at aemmert@media.ucla.edu.

The Daily Bruin is one of the best college newsrooms in the nation. Our alumni have gone on to work for the Los Angeles Times, The New York Times and The Wall Street Journal. More than that, our office is a place that many student journalists call home, a place where we've made friends and found a family on campus. Together, we work to provide UCLA with news that matters - while looking ahead to the digital future of journalism. To learn more about our mission, visit <http://recruiting.dailybruin.com/editorial/>.