UCLA California Teach Program.

Overview: The UCLA California Teach program is committed to encouraging and supporting students interested in K-12 science and math teaching. Our courses include observation, participation and assisting in K-12 schools, and seminars to support those field experiences. Students receive a $250 scholarship the first time they participate in any CalTeach seminar. Through the CalTeach program you will explore teaching in the elementary, middle and high school settings. We offer you a guided exploration of teaching as a career, personal advising as you explore and prepare for a teaching career, and assistance and financial support for subject matter preparation.

Our program is currently accepting applications for the Winter quarter.
The application deadline is Sunday, November 6th. Please click the following link for additional information: www.college.ucla.edu/cateach

- Please contact Matt Fox at CaTeach@ucla.edu with any questions.

Matt Fox, M.Ed
Academic Coordinator
UCLA California Teach
1037 Young Hall
310.794.2191
Fax: 310.825.4795
CaTeach@ucla.edu
www.college.ucla.edu/CaTeach