

UCLA Curtis Center - Website Consultant

The UCLA Curtis Center, a branch of the Math Department, is interested in hiring a part time Website Consultant 10-15 hours a month. The work could be done remotely. The webpage, <http://curtiscenter.math.ucla.edu/>, is maintained using Drupal so the candidate should be familiar with Drupal (or a similar website content management programs such as Wordpress). Additionally, the consultant should know some basic HTML and CSS in order to maintain the fronted of the website. The consultant would troubleshoot problems, increase the site's functionality through views and modules, and maintain its webpages. Pay will be based on the candidate's experience. Please send a brief resume listing any relevant experience and skills to Michelle Sidwell at michellesidwell@math.ucla.edu in order to apply.