

Walt Disney Imagineering's 2013 ImagiNations Design Competition

Walt Disney Imagineering, the unique innovative team that creates -- from concept through construction -- all Disney theme parks, resorts, attractions, cruise ships, real estate developments, and regional entertainment venues worldwide, has opened applications to their ImagiNations Design Competition.

The competition enables participants to showcase their talents and gain practical knowledge in design. It is open to students that are Juniors, Seniors, or full-time Graduate students, or within one year after graduation, enrolled in a wide array of disciplines including Computer Science, Construction/Project Management, and Engineering

The finalist teams are awarded five-day all-expense-paid trips to Imagineering in Glendale, where they present their projects to Imagineering executives, meet and network with technical and creative Imagineers, go behind the scenes where Disney magic is created, and interview for paid internships.

A position at Walt Disney Imagineering is often found on surveys of "dream occupations," and the company uses ImagiNations as a way to reach out to the widest possible talent pool for its future.

The top three placed teams will be awarded cash prizes with the first place team receiving $3,000.

Applications must be postmarked by October 12, 2012. Information and application forms are available at www.disneyimagination.com
