

The opportunity that is open is a web developer position for UCLA's Design/Media Arts department. The position will involve designing and extending software used to do resource allocation.

The Design Media/Arts offices are located on campus at the Broad Art Center. You will be able to set your own times, work a minimum of 6 hours a week (more if you can), and get paid about $14 per hour.

Candidates should have at least taken CS32 and CS35L and be willing to pick up on PHP and MySQL.

Interested candidates should email resumes to karo@cs.ucla.edu.